

eZ Publish Enterprise

CMS Specialized in Multichannel content delivery

Connecting Content to People

eZ Publish Enterprise

eZ Publish Enterprise is a Web Content Management system specialized in multichannel content delivery.

eZ Publish Enterprise is controlled and officially supported by eZ and is a cost efficient combination of Community Innovation and Software Vendor Reliability.

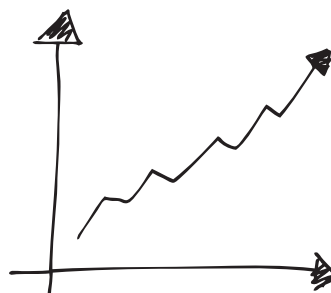

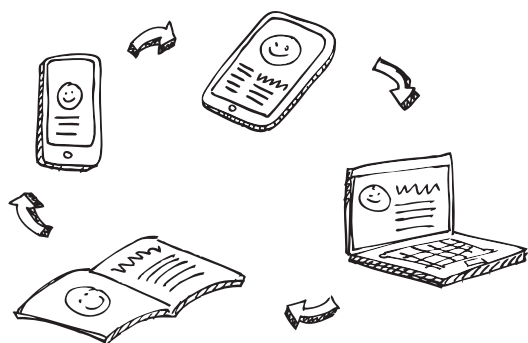

As a product, it combines a sophisticated content engine & data model with one of the most intuitive editing workspaces on the WCM market.

eZ Systems is in the business of Web Content Management Solutions since 1999.

We maintain a global presence in locations in Europe, Asia and the Americas. Our large international business partner network is the foundation of our success in the market.

Our team of engineers, consultants and partner managers enables successful implementations for our customers and partners.

A secure WCM investment now and for the future

Multichannel Ready

eZ helps organizations to be successful online by attracting and engaging their audiences on all channels and with an accelerated Time-to-Market thanks to rich out-of-the-box functionality.

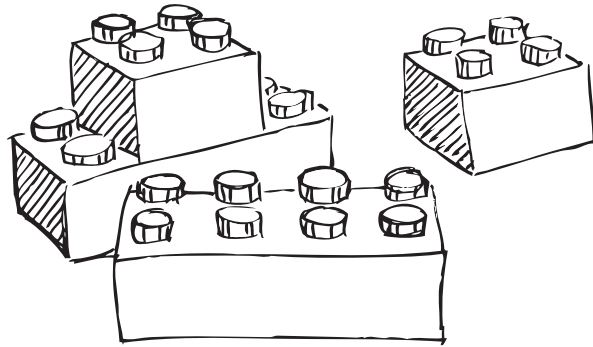

A powerful API directly and simply integrates your content with any web-enabled application on any device, i.e. iPad, iPhone, or Android without ever interfering with, or impacting the platform itself.

Best value for money

eZ is committed to provide the best value for money, being aware that the combination of Open Source technology, without upfront licensing fees, and a “pay as you go” model securing investments and reducing risks for customers, is very powerful.

They trust in eZ

Open technology with lots of available resources

Unique Open Architecture

Content is not just your key asset, it also integrates into your organisation, process, and information systems. With eZ Publish's cutting-edge support for the Interoperability Open Standard (XML, ODF, SOAP, REST, CMIS), and a large catalogue of 3rd party applications, it's simple to integrate the eZ Publish Enterprise platform with any application in your information system. Link to your favourite ERP to retrieve product information, connect to your Payment Service Provider to enable online transactions on content, make your customer service team's lives easier by feeding your CRM system, or integrate your CMS with any other aspect of your business operations.

Set your content free

Paradoxical? With eZ, more structure means more freedom for your digital content. Structuring any content asset in eZ Publish makes it easier to reuse and repurposing : set your content free ! The power of the eZ Publish Content Engine is the source of eZ's strength as a Multichannel Content Management tool.

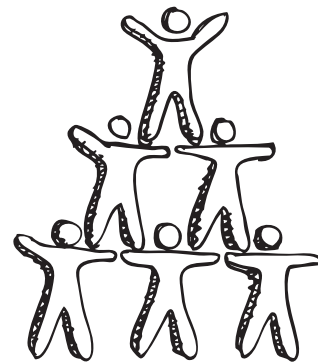

eZ Publish is the platform to make the omni-channel approach possible. A powerful presentation engine provides a multiplicity of web sites and pages which display your content in a variety of renderings. A powerful API directly and simply integrates your content with any web-enabled application on any device, i.e. iPad, iPhone, or Android without ever interfering with, or impacting the platform itself.

Dedicated to enable and support eZ is dedicated to enable and support : forums, books, training programs, partner programs are available. And of course eZ's Business Partners are also available when it comes to implementation services and consulting.

Unlimited Product Support

In addition to the available documentation and books, Enterprise subscribers have access to a highly professional support service which provides 3 tiers of support, escalation processes, online and phone access. Our highly-qualified, experienced product support teams are dedicated to the success of our customers. They ensure that your projects are successful, and that you are totally satisfied with eZ. eZ is dedicated to helping and supporting both clients and partners. This is the core service of eZ's Enterprise Open Source Business model.

Beyond User Experience

“Editors love eZ Publish“

eZ Publish has developed a tool set that makes authoring and editing web content simple and engaging, ensuring that you get the most out of your editors and authors, and that your content is pushed on-line enthusiastically and with a minimum of effort. eZ Publish frees your creative staff to do what they do best.

Strengthen Editorial Control

Publishing is one thing but managing portals and front-pages is a different story. eZ Publish Enterprise has a unique Portal Management solution enabling chief editors to easily place assets into blocks and to preview their full portals through a Time Slider.

It is all about Collaboration

Collaboration is at the heart of eZ Publish : deploying sites for subsidiaries, managing multilingual sites or setting up workflows are examples of business processes that eZ Publish Enterprise addresses particularly well.
